Mid-Term Management Plan

Mid-Term Management Plan

Mid-term market prospects

Domestic Market

- Population contraction squeezes consumption
- Global competitiveness undermined by high-cost structure, including prolonged appreciation of yen, stiff corporate income tax and demand to reduce CO2 footprint
- Regulatory oversight stiffens from amendment to the Worker Dispatch Law and other moves
- Options and issues of domestic makers

①Sustain production domestically

 Need to further reduce costs to compete against manufacturers in emerging economies and offset effects of stronger yen

2Enter foreign markets

 As business expands geographically, so too does the regulators and regulations involved; also creates need for special expertise of diverse and complex local infrastructures, indigenous peoples

Global Market

 Consumption in emerging economies rise as populations expand and various industries develop

- Issues drive new maker demands on outsourcing providers
 - In addition to meeting the traditional need of production volatility, providers must now be able to provide more sophisticated, one-stop services that not only improves productivity, but covers engineering realms as well
 - Makers demand providers for services that address increasing diversity and complexity of overseas business operations

With the manufacturing sector undergoing a structural transformation and maker needs evolving dramatically in shorter cycles, outsourcing providers that can meet emerging makers' needs will see dramatic business growth.

Overview of Group Business Strategy

Quantitative Expansion

Qualitative Expansion

Acquiring market share in a outsourcing market mired provider shakeout

- Investment to expand domestic sales base (increase number of sales and supervisory staff, sales branches)
- Investment to expand into foreign markets (overseas subsidiaries)
- Investment to expand domestic recruitment of workers (increase recruitment staff and centers)

Develop and provide new solutions to achieve new productivity gains

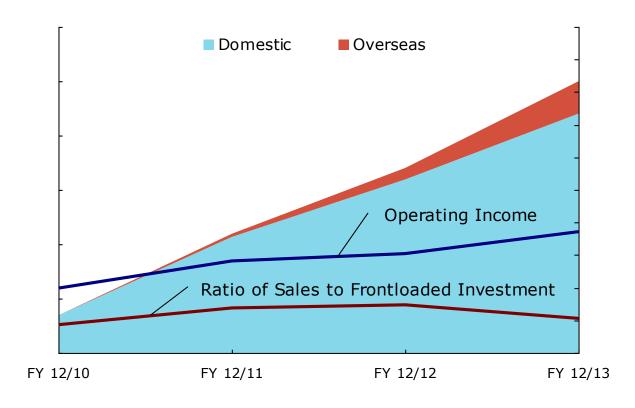

- Investment to reengineer Group to establish integrated services contract framework that offers high degree of specialized, professional skills
- Investment to facilitate branding and M&A strategies to reinforce business infrastructure

Basic Medium-Term Strategies

Rather than obsessing over securing short-term profitability through cost control efforts, our goal is to establish a robust business foundation by aggressively continuing frontloaded investments and achieve topline growth driven by both quantitative and qualitative improvements.

Medium-Term Business Development Chart

We plan to expand our ratio of overseas sales to 50% of net sales by the end of FY12/20.

^{*}Data compiled from company reports and Teikoku Databank

With net sales of the established, but unlisted, providers plummeting after the Lehman Bros. collapse, our Group of Companies staged a remarkable rally, one which saw a rebound from an income decline to the posting of a new record high in sales.

We are now within range of industry leader.

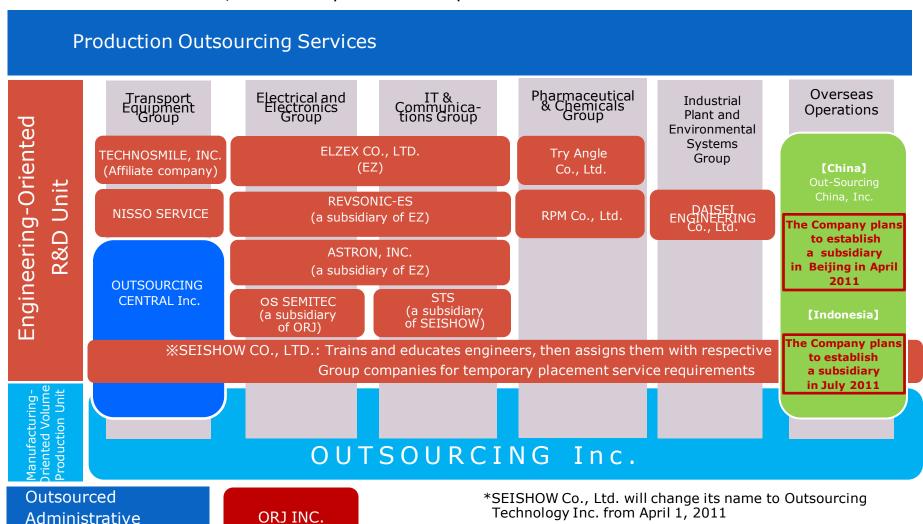

The Company is aiming to secure the No. 1 spot in the domestic production outsourcing industry by fiscal 2013.

OUTSOURCING Group: Strategy for FY12/11

OUTSOURCING Group's Upgraded Integrated Contract Framework (as of February 10, 2011)

 The Company was the first to establish an industry-specific, integrated services contract framework, one that spans R&D to production

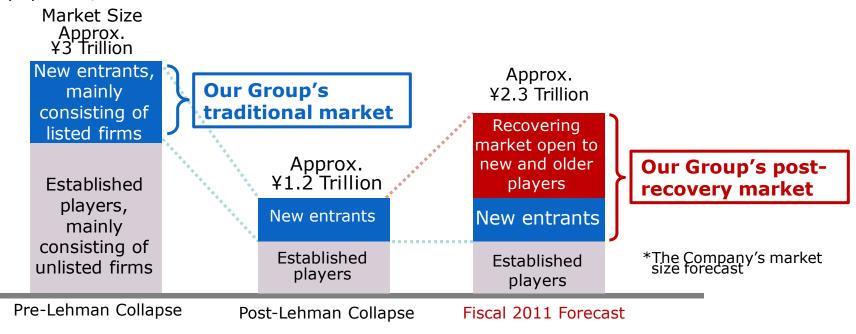

Services Contracting

Changes in Production Outsourcing Market Size

• In the years prior to the Lehman Bros. collapse, the established, but unlisted, providers commanded some 70% of the market, primarily in such industries as transport equipment, and electrical and electronics

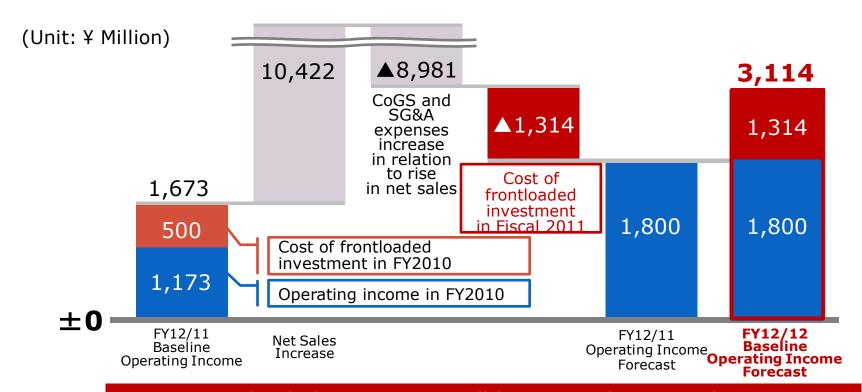

- The outsourcing industry's primary clients, the major manufacturers, predict a major market turnaround
- The market areas that are expected to recover are those once dominated by established players, providing new entrants an opportunity for further growth

Recognizing that a significant rebound was in the making, our Group completed the necessary investment to establish the framework to accept major new orders in fiscal 2010, even as our competitors were contracting business operations.

FY12/11 Frontloaded Investment Plan

- As we did in fiscal 2010, the Company will be increasing the investment to be frontloaded in fiscal 2011 in order to acquire contracts
 - ¥784 million frontloaded for key domestic initiatives
 - ¥530 million frontloaded for key overseas initiatives

Frontloaded investment will be stepped up to enhance marketing/sales and contract acquisition framework, as well as preparation and reinforcement of overseas business base.

Key Group Initiatives for FY12/11

- Key Domestic Initiatives
 - Strengthen integrated service contract framework for 3 core industries
 - Strategically implemented M&A
 - Recruit core managers, engineers and marketing/sales personnel, as well as hiring additional staff
 - Investment, initiatives to develop new service solutions
 - Fortify administration unit and marketing/sales foundation, as well as establish industry-leading recruitment system
